

unbending struggle against revisionism, at the international level, upholding the defense of Marxism-Leninism-Maoism against the revisionism and capitulation of the Prachanda-Bhattarai and against the revisionism of Avakian. The Party waged, among other important struggles against right and “left” deviations, a struggle against Trotskyite revisionists who pretended to deny the semi-feudal character of Indian society with the pretense of capitulating to the agrarian armed struggle. This glorious Party, leading the Liberation Guerrilla People’s Army (PLGA) and the United Front, has achieved the defeat of the brutal campaigns of encirclement and annihilation by the reaction, maintaining upright the flag of Marxism-Leninism-Maoism and People’s War.

Today, for communists around the world, the Communist Party of India (Maoist) represents three great red flags that separate the wheat from the chaff in the International Communist Movement:

1. The defense of Marxism-Leninism-Maoism against revisionism.
2. The path of the People’s War against the path of peace accords, conciliation, and capitulation.
3. The flag of the New Democratic Revolution, the Peasantry as the base of the anti-imperialist struggle, against those who deny the semi-feudal character of the countries oppressed by imperialism.

As the International Proletariat, we are called to celebrate the foundation of the Communist Party of India (Maoist) by committing and doubling our efforts to fulfill our internationalist duties and our duties in the revolution in our countries as part of the World Proletarian Revolution.

Let’s celebrate the foundation of the Communist Party of India (Maoist) by increasing the campaign in support of the People’s War in India, as well as the other ongoing People’s Wars in Peru, Turkey, and the Philippines. In particular, at the current moment, the Communist Party of India (Maoist) is calling on all its ranks to assume the challenges faced by the revolutionary movement in India with the campaign of encirclement and elimination by Operation Kagaar and to defend and consolidate the three instruments of the revolution to overcome temporary setbacks. The International Communist Movement must support the Party and the revolutionary movement and put even more effort into the campaign of defense and solidarity with the People’s War in India, with the Party, and with the democratic and revolutionary movement in India led by it.

Let's celebrate the foundation of the Communist Party of India (Maoist) by making greater efforts to unite the International Communist Movement based on Marxism-Leninism-Maoism. The Communist Party of India (Maoist), in its foundation resolution in 2004, declared: "The Unified Party will continue to hold high the banner of proletarian internationalism and will continue to contribute more forcefully in uniting the genuine Maoist forces at the international level. In addition to that, it will also establish unity with the oppressed people and nations of the whole world and continue to fight with them in advancing the world proletarian revolution against imperialism and their lackeys, thereby paving the way towards realizing socialism and then Communism on a world scale." We express our full commitment to seek unity with the Communist Party of India (Maoist) and to join all efforts to unite all the genuine communists in the world under Marxism-Leninism-Maoism, through the development of two-line struggle and the development of revolution in each country as part of and at the service of the World Proletarian Revolution.

Let's celebrate the foundation of the Communist Party of India (Maoist) by developing the revolution in our own countries, founding or reconstituting Communist Parties to lead the New Democratic Revolutions and Socialist Revolutions on the path lives in the midst of the People's War in India, have been immortalized in the ranks of the heroes of the proletariat and the oppressed people.

On September 21, 2004, the unification of the CPI(ML)[PW] and MCCI gave birth to the Communist Party of India (Maoist) under the leadership of Comrade Ganapathy. The Indian comrades struggled in the midst of armed struggle to unite all genuine communists in one Party, following one of the tasks laid down by the founding leaders and teachers of the Party, Comrade Charu Mazumdar and Comrade Kanhai Chatterjee. This glorious Party was founded based on the defense of Marxism-Leninism-Maoism and its application in the country, with a wide and rich experience of leading armed struggle in the three preceding decades. The founding of the unified Party marked a turning point in the leadership of the New Democratic Revolution in India as part of the World Proletarian Revolution.

This unified Party further consolidated in the Historic Unity Congress - The Ninth Congress in 2007, with the establishment of the unified guiding ideological and political bases for the New Democratic Revolution in India and its uninterrupted path until communism, through Socialist Revolution and Cultural Proletarian Revolutions. The founded Communist Party of India (Maoist) waged an

Let's Celebrate and Hold High the 20th Anniversary of the Foundation of the Glorious Communist Party of India (Maoist)

The International Communist League extends its most heartfelt greetings to the Communist Party of India (Maoist) on the 20th anniversary of its foundation. We join in the celebration of this anniversary called by the CPI (Maoist) and extend the call to the entire International Communist Movement to make this a celebration of the International Proletariat.

We greet the Communist Party of India (Maoist), its General Secretary Comrade Gaganna, its Central Committee, the People's Liberation Guerrilla Army, the new revolutionary people's power organs, the democratic and revolutionary movement, and mass organizations, the proletariat, and all the exploited and oppressed masses and peoples who are waging a heroic struggle under the Party's leadership. We bow our heads to pay tribute to all the comrades who have given their lives to the Party and the Revolution in the last two decades since the foundation of the Party. Comrade Shamsher Singh Sheri, Comrade Sushil Roy, Comrade Azad, Comrade Koteswarlu, Comrade Ramakrishna, Comrade Haragopal, Comrade Anuradha Ghandy, along with the 5,249 comrades who laid down their

to the golden communism. The People's War in India, led by the glorious Communist Party of India (Maoist), is a reference point for the proletariat and oppressed nations and peoples of the world. The celebration of the anniversary of the Party would be empty words if we don't renew our commitment to applying Marxism-Leninism-Maoism in our countries to prepare more revolutionary wars for the conquest of political power.
